U.N. Unanimously Elects U Thant As Secretary

Burmese Diplomat Gets Boost

Acting Official Gets Four-Year Term, More Pay

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The U.N. General Assembly unanimously elected U Thant on Friday as secretary-general for an additional four years. In the works were boosts in pay and allowances that will bring the Burmese diplomat $70,500 a year in his post.

Delegates in the 110-nation assembly cast secret ballots ratifying an earlier unanimous recommendation by the Security Council that Thant's term be extended until Nov. 3, 1966, and the word "acting" dropped from his title. Immediately after the vote the 53-year-old former schoolmaster-journalist was escorted from an office behind the podium to the assembly rostrum.

There assembly President Muhammad Zafrulla Khan of Pakistan, a Moslem, greeted Thant, a Buddhist, and told him "it is for me a great joy" to be the first to offer congratulations on the election.

Applause rippled through the great blue and gold assembly hall. Thant then addressed the assembly, reaffirming his oath of office.

He stressed his concern for resolving the United Nations' precarious financial situation and bringing an end to the Congo crisis.

Delegates paraded to the platform for speeches praising the secretary-general.

Soviet Delegate Valerian A. Zorin reiterated formal support for the idea of a three-man executive representing the Communist, neutral and Western nations.

But he added that the Soviet Union recognized the need for resolving the leadership problem by "taking into account the qualities of Mr. Thant." He singled out specifically Thant's role in the Cuban crisis.

Thant, the third chief executive in the United Nations' 17-year history, was named acting secretary-general Nov. 3, 1961, after the death of Dag Hammarskjöld, a Swede, in an African plane crash. The first secretary-general, Trygve Lie, now lives in his native Norway.

Boosts in pay and allowances for Thant were recommended by the U.N. Budgetary Committee, and are virtually certain to be approved by the assembly.

His salary was increased from $20,000 to $27,500 and his entertainment allowance from $20,000 to $22,500. In addition he gets $10,000 for house rent, $5,000 for servants, and was recently given a $5,500 cost-of-living adjustment. All is tax-free.

Christmas Weather

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The weather bureau predicted Friday that the nation could expect about normal weather conditions during the Christmas season.

The bureau's 30-day outlook did not make specific mention of the holiday period but said "the prevailing fall pattern of warm in the West and cold in the East" could be expected during the latter part of the month.

The first half of December probably will be featured by a reversal of this trend—with above-normal temperatures in the East and below normal in the West.

The forecast said precipitation was expected to be heavier than usual over much of the nation during the month. The major exception probably will be the northern Plains area where subnormal amounts were predicted.

JOHN PRIOR LEWIS

Kennedy Names Economist From Indiana

WASHINGTON (UPI)—John Prior Lewis, Indiana University economist, was selected Friday by President Kennedy for membership on the President's council of economic advisers.

Lewis will succeed Kermit Gordon who late next month will take over as director of the budget under David E. Bell becomes head of the foreign aid program. Kennedy announced his intention to appoint the Indiana professor at a later date, probably early next year. The White House explained that Lewis has some economic commitments which he cannot complete until early next year. Thus his nomination will be sent to the Senate after Congress reconvenes.

Lewis currently is chairman of the Department of Business Economics and Public Policy, and also director of the International Development Research Center at Indiana.

He holds a bachelor's degree from Union College at Schenectady, N.Y., and a doctor of philosophy degree from Harvard where his treatise was entitled, "Towards an Administrative Price Policy for Full Employment."

Lewis, 41, a World War II Naval Reserve lieutenant, is the author of the forthcoming book, "Quiet Crisis in India: Economic Development and American Policy."

Pope Undergoes Further Checks

VATICAN CITY (UPI)—High Vatican sources said Friday night that "further checks are being carried out" on Pope John XXIII because his doctors are not certain as to the exact nature of his illness.

The sources, who reported they had been in constant touch with the Pope's doctors, gave their report shortly after an optimistically worded Vatican announcement said the condition of the 81-year-old pontiff "is improving."

Anti-Bias Rule Does Not Involve Private Homes

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Owners-occupants of one and two-family houses will not be included in enforcement of a Presidential order prohibiting discrimination in the sale or rental of federally-assisted housing.

This means that the typical home owner with an FHA or VA mortgage may sell to whomever he pleases.

The exemption was one of the regulations on implementation of the order published Friday by the Federal Housing Administration (FHA) and the Veterans Administration. FHA insures mortgages, VA guarantees them.

President Kennedy signed the order Nov. 20. It went into effect immediately. It applied, however, only to applications for loan underwriting, slum clearance subsidy, public housing subsidy and other housing aid received after Nov. 20. The order prohibited discrimination because of "race, color, or creed or national origin."

FHA Commissioner Neal J. Hardy and VA Benefits Director Philip N. Brownstein told a news conference their agencies have received no complaints of discrimination since Nov. 20.

Hardy indicated that it will be several months before any number of housing units covered by the order is built. Sales, however, often are made from plans or model homes before construction is finished, or even begun.

Russia Must Make Good On Promise

Mikoyan Ends Two Days Of Talks With Dean Rusk

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Secretaries of State Dean Rusk told Anastas I. Mikoyan Friday that Russia must make good on its promise to prove Cuba has been purged of offensive weapons before the United States makes any more specific or formal no-invasion pledge.

This was made known as Rusk concluded two days of U.S. talks with the Soviet deputy premier which officials said produced no breakthrough on Cuba, disarmament, Berlin or any other issue.

Rusk and Mikoyan conferred for two hours and 45 minutes in a "spirit of good will" on cold war issues. But a U.S. spokesman said he could not say whether it advanced or retarded East-West relations.

On the matter of Cuba, the secretary told Mikoyan that the United States still considers several key issues "unresolved." Officials said the discussions showed no indication that it would be easy to settle these issues.

The unresolved issues are how to get U.N. verification of the removal of offensive weapons from Cuba and how to devise safeguards to insure that the island does not once again become an offensive military base for the Soviets.

It was made clear to Mikoyan that President Kennedy will not issue any further specific or more formal pledge against invading Cuba until some satisfactory verification is worked out.

Officials said that otherwise the President would not go beyond his general statement at his news conference last Tuesday that the United States would not permit aggression in the hemisphere.

Officials said after the Rusk-Mikoyan meeting that some of the Soviet IL28 bombers in Cuba are being crated and some of the crates are being moved to port areas. A number of the bombers never were uncrated by the Soviets.

American Legion Cites Kennedy

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy received a citation today from the American Legion for his cooperation in the Legion's Boys Nation program.

The citation was presented by James E. Powers of Macon, Ga., national commander. Powers was accompanied to the White House by John S. Gleason Jr., administrator of veterans affairs and a former national commander.

Powers told newsmen that the Legion and the American people generally approve the President's firm stand against the Communist arms buildup in Cuba.

China Says It Is Ready To Pull Back

Contents India Must Do Same In Border War

NEW DELHI, Saturday (UPI)—Communist China announced early today it was prepared to pull back its troops all along the Indian frontier but warned that the border war could flare up again unless India did the same.

Indian defense officials said fewer Chinese troops had been seen in the border regions in the past few days, but they feared the Chinese might only be regrouping their forces for another assault.

Radio Peking and the official New China News Agency, in broadcasts monitored in Tokyo, also warned Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru that China could not ensure disengagement by itself "nor can it prevent the recurrence of border clashes."

They said Red China was ready to take its troops out of the mountainous battleline as originally announced. The pullback was scheduled to start today.

But there was no immediate word whether the planned withdrawal actually had started.

Peking broadcast a warning from Premier Chou En-lai saying that if India refused to pull its troops back from the line set by Red China "even the cease-fire which has been effected is liable to be upset."

It said the warning was contained in a letter to Nehru dated Nov. 28. Indian sources confirmed a letter had been received and said it was under consideration.

Communist China first announced its unilateral cease-fire on Nov. 21. It said its troops would begin withdrawing at midnight Friday night Peking time (10:30 p.m. Friday New Delhi time or 11 a.m. Friday EST).

But since then Peking has accused India of new provocations along the border. Friday such charges raised fears here of a possible new Communist offensive before India could restore its shattered defenses.

Nuclear Rocket Test Run Off In Nevada

JACKASS FLATS, Nev. (UPI)—The sixth powered test of the Kiwi "non flying bird" was run off here Friday in the $46 million program to develop a nuclear rocket for the U.S. space effort.

Officials said the test was the final one for the Kiwi B4A reactor—one in a series of stationary rockets in Project Rover.

About a dozen newsmen, the first admitted to this sprawling 1100 square mile backyard atomic proving ground since the resumption of nuclear testing by the country in September 1961 witnessed the power run over closed circuit television in concrete block control room two miles away.

The Kiwi roared like a multi-jet bomber and shot a bright orange flame into a cloudless sky.

Weather and scientific prediction said fallout from the experiment would fall harmlessly in remote desert area.

There was no immediate word concerning official results of the test.

"We will not know how well the performance went for several weeks," said Keith Boyer, technical director of the Rover program from Los Alamos, N.M.

Primary purpose of Friday's run, officials said, was to test the reactor with liquid hydrogen propellant. Secondary objectives were to gain information on the use of liquid hydrogen during start up and shut down of the reactor; to check the neutronic power calibration; and to make transfer function measurement at one quarter designed power.

Present plans in the Rover Project, a spokesman said Friday, now call for a flight test of a nuclear rocket by this country in 1967.

Hardy and Brownstein said FHA and VA had tried to make their regulation as similar as possible. Hardy said that other federal housing agencies would publish their regulations for enforcing the order "in the near future."

Publication is expected next week. Whether the bias ban would apply to rental of apartments in a four-unit building occupied in part by the landlord has not been decided, Hardy said.

Captains Charged

YOKOHAMA (UPI)—Norwegian Capt. Peter Pedersen, 61, of the tanker Tharald Brovig and Japanese Capt. Torachiro Uematsu, 75, a pilot, were remanded Thursday on charges of criminal negligence growing out of a collision between two tankers which killed 41 persons Nov. 18.

Churchill Toasts Birthday With Early Champagne

LONDON (UPI)—Sir Winston Churchill Friday toasted his 88th birthday with a morning champagne, a pre-lunch nip of brandy bottled the year he was born and a turkey soup dinner Friday night with his family.

The 1874 brandy was one of hundreds of gifts and greetings delivered to his Hyde Park Gate home. There were two barrels of oysters and a case of champagne plus the turkey soup and two big birthday cakes.

The World War II prime minister and Lady Churchill were there to receive them. Once he came to the window, cigar in hand, to wave to well-wishers. He leaned heavily on his walking stick and stumbled slightly as he walked unaided.

Birthday greetings poured in from President Kennedy and former Presidents Dwight D. Eisenhower and Harry S. Truman. Queen Elizabeth and from friends throughout the world. Friday night Churchill issued a statement of thanks.

"I am grateful to all those that have sent me good wishes on my birthday. I hope that you all accept this message of thanks as an expression of the pleasures you have given me as there are so many letters that I cannot answer them all personally."

The old warrior could have attended the House of Commons Friday, a friend said, but he chose not to do so because he was not sure of being able to walk in unaided, as he has always done.

Churchill is still using a cane to get around following a fall in his hotel on the French Riviera. A thigh bone was fractured in the fall. Complications almost killed him.

It was believed the first time Churchill misses a session of the House when he was in the country on his birthday. But in recent years, he has usually been abroad in warmer climes this time of year.

Churchill had two birthday cakes. One was a traditional gift from Mrs. Maria Floris, wife of a London confectioner. The 15-pound cake was frosted with white icing.

Mikoyan Visits Supermarket; Buys Nothing

ROCKVILLE, Md. (AP)—Soviet First Deputy Premier Anastas I. Mikoyan did something Friday that few Americans can do. He spent nearly an hour in a huge supermarket without buying a thing.

He patted children's heads, shook hands with shopping housewives and clerks, and eyed and fingered packages throughout an hour's tour of the newest and largest emporium in this Washington suburb.

Neither the piped-in music of a Rachmaninoff piano concerto nor "Love, Thy Magic Spell Is Everywhere," detested Russian's traveling salesman and trouble shooter from his mission for the afternoon—to learn about the latest techniques in preparing and dispensing foods and the assorted unrelated goods of the American housewives' market place.

Virginia Fire Kills Six Tots

ALEXANDRIA, Va. (AP)—Six children, including three from one family, died Friday in a flash fire which trapped them in a second floor apartment. At least 10 other persons were injured, none seriously.

Authorities indicated the blaze may have been started by youngsters playing with matches.

The dead were identified as: Kimmie L. Henderson, 3; his brother, Edgar, 15 months, and his sister, Cecelia Ann, 4 months; Lottie R. Sellers, 9; Felicia Malloy, 13 months, and Mary L. Ellis, 1.

Fire Chief B. J. Padgett said one of the six victims was found in a bed and the five others had crowded into a bathroom in an apparent effort to escape the flames and smoke.

Padgett said the fire, believed to have been started by children playing with matches, was under control in a matter of minutes.

Police said two adults were reported to have leaped to safety from the second floor of the building, which contains five apartments.

Ecumenical Unit Ends Debate About Unity

VATICAN CITY (UPI)—The Ecumenical Council cut off debate Friday on the subject of unity with the Orthodox and other Eastern churches and prepared to turn to another key topic—the basic structure of the Roman Catholic Church.

The council, in a session presided over by Francis Cardinal Spellman of New York, decided in a standing vote to end discussion on a draft concerning unity with the Eastern churches.

But the council fathers took no immediate action on the somewhat controversial draft. It is expected to vote in the next few days on whether the draft decree should be accepted as amended or merged with other documents of church unity that have not come up for discussion.

The council Saturday will begin considering the draft "De Ecclesia" (about the church). It is a lengthy document that could be compared to a charter of church organization.

Friday's session, attended by 2,145 prelates, heard two cardinals and thirteen archbishops and bishops speak on the Eastern churches draft.

The draft is one of three dealing with Pope John's long-range goal of reunification of all Christian churches. It lists "theological, liturgical, juridical, psychological and practical" steps that could be taken to narrow the gap between Roman Catholicism and the ancient churches of the East, which broke with Rome in 1054 A.D.

A council communiqué said that some speakers, discussing the responsibility for the break said that "from the historical point of view it can be stated that Catholics also may have been in the wrong."

But the speakers added that from the point of view of theology and doctrine the Roman Catholic Church could not be blamed for the schisms.

Retiring Correspondent Recalls Eight Presidents

EDITOR'S NOTE—David Harold Oliver retired Friday after 49 years of service on the Washington staff of The Associated Press. In that span he came to know the nation's presidents and in this farewell story he tells of the offbeat episodes of this long association with the occupants of the White House.

By D. HAROLD OLIVER

WASHINGTON (AP)—History has well recorded the big, serious events of presidential terms.

But as I look back over 49 years of with the Associated Press and as-seasoned sports writer who told me assignments connected with eight presidents and former presidents. Then there was a train ride from William Howard Taft to Dwight D. Eisenhower, it seems the little amusing things I come to mind as readily as the world-shaking events—little anecdotes that never reached print.

For instance, we lost a presidential breakfast in Rio de Janeiro one night and it held up the chief executive's departure 45 minutes. It's easy to get lost in Rio, especially on a first visit. A wide search turned up the valet after President Franklin D. Roosevelt sailed, but he was rushed to FDR's cruiser by launch.

Knowing the late president's affection for the old Negro, I doubt whether the missing gentleman's man ever wound up in the brig.

As a cub my first assignment with President Warren G. Harding was at an international polo match on the White House ellipse.

It was a double "first" for me for I had never seen a polo game and I had to cover that, too.

50 Aboard Eastern Airliner

DC7B Had Left Charlotte, N.C. In Early Evening

BULLETIN

NEW YORK (UPI)—Eastern Air Lines reported Friday night that 25 persons were killed in the plane crash and 25 survived.

NEW YORK (UPI)—An Eastern Air Lines DC7B airliner carrying 45 passengers and a crew of 5 crashed and burned on a runway Friday night while trying to land in fog so thick that emergency vehicles had trouble finding the flaming plane. At least 25 persons were killed, fire department authorities said, but 22 others were reported to have survived.

Fire Commissioner Edward Thompson reported shortly before midnight that 25 bodies seared by flames had been recovered from the wreckage of the four-engine propeller-driven plane, and that there were 22 survivors. His figures left three persons unaccounted for.

The plane, Eastern's flight 512, left Charlotte, N.C., where the flight originated, at 7:13 p.m. EST. The non-stop flight was due here at 9:09 p.m. EST; it crashed at about 9:45 p.m. EST.

Spray Foam

As firefighters sprayed the flaming airliner with foam, nine survivors were rushed to the airport garage where a Port Authority policeman said "they don't appear to be in bad shape." Five identified themselves as Helen Fournier and Patricia Richards, both stewardesses, Harry Patton, D. J. Barber and Frank Kolareki.

Some of the other survivors identified were Janet Engelhardt of New York City; Martin Templeton of Rockhill, S.C.; Robert Weiss, New York area; Robert Jacobs, 36, New Haven, Conn., and Fred Amsterdam of New York City.

Other survivors were taken in ambulances to Queens General Hospital and Peninsula Hospital, also in Queens.

According to the weather bureau, Idlewild Airport had a ground fog that limited visibility to about three-quarters of a mile at the time of the crash. Because of the fog some flights had been cancelled, diverted or delayed prior to the crash.

There was no immediate explanation for the crashed airliner trying to land in such thick fog. The metropolitan area has been blanketed periodically during the last days by heavy smog.

In his midnight report to Mayor Robert F. Wagner, Thompson said that "we're doing everything possible. It's terrible, it's a great tragedy."

Beckhold Captain

The airlines identified the captain of the plane as Edward Beckhold. Besides the stewardesses, other crewmembers were co-pilot Joseph Wagner and the pilot-engineer, identified only as Voorhees.

Relatives of passengers were waiting at the airport when the airliner crashed. Police escorted them to an upstairs room in the terminal while rescue operations were going on.

Debris was scattered over the runway as emergency crash vehicles converged on the scene.

Firefighters sprayed foam on the flaming hulk of the airliner.

At 10:35 p.m., the Fire Department radioed urgently for "more medical assistance." Police closed a section of the Van Wyck Parkway leading to the airport in Queens to permit movement of fire engines, ambulances and other emergency equipment.

The Fire Department reported at 10:40 p.m. that there were "18 survivors."

At the same time, another alarm was sent out that the airport equipment had run out of foamite used to battle the flaming fog sweeping the wreckage. It asked the Standard Oil Co. to immediately dispatch its special foam unit with extra supplies.

"Wreckage is strewn all over the place in a wide area," said Fire Commissioner Edward Thompson.

A police spokesman confirmed there are some survivors. They have been taken to the police emergency squad garage on the airport.

The airlines said there were 45 passengers and a crew of 5 aboard the four-engine plane.

Fire Commissioner Edward Thompson, on the scene at the airport, radioed for ambulances to respond to the crash site, reported to be a taxi runway designated as runway "Z."

Pressman Will Press For Indictments

Seeks To Appear Before Grand Jury

BALTIMORE (AP) — Attorney Hyman Pressman sought Friday to appear before the Prince Georges County grand jury to seek indictments against persons who were listed as contributing more than the law allowed to the election campaign of Republican Frank Small Jr.

The campaign report filed Monday showed some contributions, including those for Small's wife and his campaign manager, exceeded the $2,500 limit. Small lost to Democratic Gov. J. Millard Tawes.

Pressman wrote the grand jury that he felt he could convince it of "your duty to issue indictments."

The Baltimore lawyer stepped in after William L. Kahler, state's attorney for Prince Georges, said he would not seek indictments although the excess contributions had been brought to his attention.

"These are all highly reputable people," Kahler was quoted. "I see nothing to be gained by prosecuting these people."

Pressman said Kahler's reaction was a violation of a basic precept "that this is a nation of laws and not of men. He also acts contrary to the cardinal principles that all men are equal under the law and that ignorance of the law excuses no one."

Pressman maintained that Kahler "has no right to decide whom to prosecute and whom not to prosecute, depending on whether the violator of the law is a person of prominence or a little man."

Picketing Teachers Get Assurances

BALTIMORE (AP) — Picketing won for Baltimore school teachers Friday assurances that the City Council will not cut pay raises recommended for them in the 1963 budget.

About 50 teachers picketed in front of City Hall and then swarmed into the City Council chamber still carrying their signs. Councilmen assured them there would be no tampering.

The teachers said their demonstration was prompted by reports that the council was considering cutting pay raises of $300 each recommended by the Board of Estimates.

Retiring

but I will never forget a telephone call to my home that stopped me in the middle of trimming a Christmas tree. There was nothing much amusing about this event. The office said the White House was on fire. I got there when water was about a foot deep in the west wing, which was nearly gutted by the blaze.

A trip to Ft. Bragg, N.C., with President Harry S. Truman to watch a mass Army parachute drop introduced me to covering presidential trips by plane.

Incidentally, to cover presidents and national campaigns successfully, a man must have extensive journalistic training plus the stamina of a mule.

Lacking the latter, I sympathize with reporters these days who flit around the nation and the world covering President Kennedy. A trip I took with Roosevelt in 1936 to Buenos Aires and return required 28 days by Navy cruiser. FDR touched four countries, made speeches and attended receptions. Kennedy in his jet would have made the same sort of journey in a week, kept all the engagements, and shaken more hands.

With the humorous, little things, a White House reporter must also come in contact with the tragic, depressing events — for example, those known in the trade as "death watches." It fell to my lot to be on such watches when former Presidents Taft and Woodrow Wilson, and 16-year-old Calvin Coolidge Jr. were dying. With FDR it was not a death watch. It came too suddenly.

That April day in 1945 in Warm Springs, Ga., three newsmen, including myself, were at a mountain barbecue where Roosevelt was expected but was long overdue. Then a frantic telephone call from the presidential switchboard ordered us to hurry down to the press secretary's cottage.

On the short trip down the mountain the three of us debated what it could be about. The two main guesses were that the war was over in Europe or that FDR had been taken ill.

It wasn't long before we had the answer — a terse announcement from secretary William D. Hassett that shook world capitals. FDR had died of a massive cerebral hemorrhage.

Maryland Briefs

By The Associated Press

BALTIMORE (AP) — Mayor J. Harold Grady said Friday the City of Baltimore would become a party to the Blue Cross application for higher rates and would take an active part in public hearings which have been called.

The hospital insurance firm announced Thursday it would seek a rate hike averaging 22.8 per cent from its more than one million Maryland subscribers.

Mayor Grady said Baltimore was anxious to learn whether the proposed increase is justified. Grady becomes a judge of the Baltimore Supreme Bench next Thursday.

TOWSON, Md. (AP) — Baltimore County will have its highest property tax rate in history in 1963. A rate of $2.66 per $100 assessed valuation was established by the Council Friday.

The new rate represents a 12-cent increase over 1962. The council also adopted a general fund budget of $70.1 million for the coming year.

BALTIMORE (AP) — Eastern Air Lines said Friday it would return its daytime Miami jet flight to Friendship International Airport from Dulles International Airport in Chantilly, Va.

A spokesman for the airline said the action would be taken Dec. 13 in response to public demand by the Baltimore Association of Commerce and the city's Airport Board.

Eastern has been operating the flight from the recently opened Dulles field for the past 10 days.

BALTIMORE (AP) — A published report Friday said the 79th Army Reserve Infantry Division would be dissolved Monday and its men distributed among non-combat units.

In Indian town Gap, Pa., the 79th's headquarters said it could not confirm the report but there would be an announcement soon from Defense Secretary Robert McNamara.

The unit is made up of men from Maryland, Delaware and Pennsylvania.

TOWSON, Md. (AP) — The Army disclosed today that about 400 Maryland National Guard missile men were on "sustained advance alert status" for 30 days during the Cuban crisis.

The National Guard provided additional men to bring to 100 per cent readiness four Nike missile sites at Bay Bridge, Granite, Jacksonville and Waldorf.

The alert came to light through a letter of commendation from Brig. Gen. J. D. Stevens, commander of the 35th Artillery Brigade (Air Defense) to Col. William U. Ogletree, commander of the Guard's 691st Artillery Group at Towson.

End Is Sought To Segregation In Prisons

BALTIMORE (AP) — An integrationist organization has threatened to seek a court order if Maryland's prison director does not take action to desegregate state penal institutions.

Leo Burroughs Jr., public relations director of the Civic Interest Group of Baltimore, said in a letter to James W. Curran: "Unless action from your office is soon to be forthcoming the CIG and the NAACP may have to seek court action" to bring about desegregation of prisons.

Burroughs had announced earlier this week the CIG was considering picketing the Maryland Penitentiary in Baltimore. Burroughs said Friday that demonstrations at the prison are quite likely.

Burroughs said in the letter to Curran, acting director of the Department of Correction, that the Supreme Court expressly forbids segregation in tax supported institutions.

He said the blame for discriminatory policies rests squarely on Curran's shoulders. Burroughs said the CIG had investigated several other prisons in Maryland and found they are also segregated.

Judge Refuses Dancer's Bail

BALTIMORE (AP) — Criminal Judge Dulany Foster refused Friday to release on bail a night club dancer accused of the murder of a doctor from Manila.

Lawyers for Maxine Gross in arguing for her release on bond cited her age — 20 — and lack of any criminal record. State attorneys opposed her release because of the seriousness of the charge which normally is not subject to bail.

The girl has been in police custody since late Sunday when they found the nude body of Dr. Deo Gracias De Leon, 29, in the shower of a hotel room.

Medical examiners said he had been beaten more than 20 times on the head. Bedclothes had been piled on top of the body and set afire.

Miss Gross, who danced under the professional name of Vicki Storm, lived in the same hotel.

Dr. De Leon had registered for a room the night before.

He had been chief resident in obstetrics and gynecology at St. Joseph's Hospital for the past 4½ years. Witnesses said he had met the dancer at a night club last Saturday night.

She has pleaded innocent to the charge of murder on which she was indicted Thursday.

Police said they are looking for a 40-year-old former bartender to question about the murder.

Two Swans Now Believed To Have Caused Maryland Plane Crash

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two swans, instead of one now are believed to have been involved in a collision blamed for the United Air Lines Viscount crash that killed all 17 persons aboard near Ellicott City, Md., last Friday. This came to light in a minute examination of the vital parts of the plane which were assembled by the Civil Aeronautics Board at Washington National Airport Thursday. Investigators said that if the swans had collided with the plane a quarter of a mile away from the main wreckage. Recovery at the site of the remains of a large bird led investigators to believe the plane collided at 6,000 feet. A whistling swan weighs about 14 pounds.

Deaths And Funerals

WILLIAM Z. KIMBLE
William Zack Kimble, 61, of RD 4, died yesterday afternoon. Born in Williamsport he was a son of the late William A. and Annie (Leighy) Kimble.

First Lady's Film Of India To Be Shown

WASHINGTON (AP) — First Lady Jacqueline Kennedy, who won an award for her television tour of the White House, will soon be starring in U.S. movie houses in a film of her visit last March to India and Pakistan.

The Motion Picture Association of America said Tuesday any profits will be used to make additional foreign language versions and prints for the government to meet requests for the film from overseas.

The U.S. Information Agency has shown it in 106 countries and in 29 languages to audiences it estimated in the hundreds of millions.

Eric Johnston, the association president, said:

"I've seen firsthand the kind of job these films are doing for America abroad. They're generating tremendous good will. It's heartwarming to see how foreign audiences are responding to the personality of the First Lady. Clearly they merit the widest possible showing here at home."

Johnston said United Artists was chosen in a drawing to assume all distribution costs.

Caution Urged On Hunters By Game Warden

Appeals for hunters to use all caution in the woods, both from the standpoint of handling weapons and from forest fire danger, were made yesterday by the regional game warden and the district forester as the time neared for deer season to open.

W. A. C. Irwin, district forester, said that the fire danger in the woods of Allegany, Garrett and Washington counties is extremely high.

The fire season is still in effect, and no burning within 200 feet of woods or flammable materials is allowed during the day until 4 p.m.

Irwin pointed out that failure to comply with the regulations will result in destruction of timber from resulting fires and also elimination of game, to the detriment of hunting.

Joseph A. Minke, regional game warden, said the chief concern of his department is senseless killing of human beings in the seven-day season that starts today.

A wound from the high-powered deer rifles is usually fatal, he pointed out. He urged hunters to wear bright clothing, and also to use caution when firing at deer.

The deer hunting will be intense in the eastern part of Allegany County where there are many thousands of acres of state forest.

Minke pointed out that this section is very attractive to hunters from downstate and the metropolitan areas, as it is within easy driving distance.

The great hordes of metropolitan area hunters includes a good many novice hunters, and Minke urged these to use care when taking a shot.

Eric Johnston, the association president, said:

Living Costs Edge Downward

WASHINGTON (AP) — Living costs edged down a bit in October in the first monthly decline of 1962. The November level may reflect a further drop.

This favorable news for housewives was reported Wednesday by the Labor Department which until now had been relaying monthly price advisories showing steady, 1962 increases to record levels.

The index kept by the department's Bureau of Labor Statistics, declined a bare one-tenth of one per cent in October to 106 per cent of the 1957-58 average.

This means it costs 60 cents more now to buy what $10 would purchase four years ago.

The story in October was that meat prices, after soaring in September as some Midwest farmers withheld livestock from markets, fell somewhat after the farmers' "strike" was lifted.

Ann Landers . . .

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: The letter from "Over 70" referring to the tragedy of young unwed mothers caught my eye. I would like to comment on the tragedy of the very young wed mother.

During my recent confinement my husband shared the waiting room with four other expectant fathers. Three were 18 years old. The fourth was 20. Two were still in high school.

The girl who shared the labor room with me was 17. She was terrified and calling for her mother. How pathetic that these youngsters must face adult experiences totally unprepared. They have no resources to draw on. Some of them are not even full-grown physically. Emotionally they are children. Financially they are doomed to be members of the low income group because of limited education and no skills.

These kids, at 22, have been through the mill. Often they are bitter, disillusioned and fed up with the struggle. Although some young couples can boast of a successful early marriage they are the lucky ones. The unsuccessful and the unlucky are without number.

—OKLAHOMA MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: I've said it before and I'll say it again—marriage is not for kids.

Middle age is rough enough when it comes at 50, but when it comes at 25 it is indeed a tragedy.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Last year we loaned some money to our close friends. They were in a tight spot and we didn't have the heart to say no.

We are not wealthy people, but we live conservatively and manage to set aside a little out of every pay check. These people promised to pay us back at the rate of $25 a month. We would not accept any interest.

For the first three months they paid the $25, then the payments stopped. Now, almost four months have passed and we haven't even had a phone call from them. Apparently they are ashamed to face us.

It is sad that we have lost their friendship as a result of doing them a favor. It is also sad that we have lost several hundred dollars. We would appreciate it if

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

The Story Of Complexion Care—Inside And Out

What's a teen gal going to do if she finds her complexion plagued by oiliness and blemishes?

Three things, I hope! The first is to scorn those foods that cause the trouble and to go for those that help your beauty display perfection! You'll never be hungry but you'll be complexion happy, if every day's meals are planned as this one is:

Breakfast: Citrus fruit or juice, cereal or boiled egg, toast sparingly buttered, milk. Lunch: Clear soup, sandwich of lean meat with no dressing, fresh fruit or gelatin dessert without cream, butter-milk. Dinner: Boiled or roasted meat, green vegetable, yellow vegetable, green salad without dressing, fruit dessert, plain cake or custard, milk or buttermilk. Between meal snacks: Fruit, lollypop, plain cookies, or milk. Like the plague, avoid chocolate, nuts, fried foods, creamy foods, spicy foods such as pickles, fat meats and fish such as sardines, and soda pop.

While you're wooing a smooth, clear skin from within, attack the blemishes from without with this second step in the program:

Wash your face very gently four times a day with one of the soaps designed for oily skin. Rinse thoroughly after each washing by filling your cupped hands with tepid water and splashing it over your face until all the soap is gone and your skin squeaks to the touch.

And here's the third and virtually important part of retrieving skin beauty. Discard anything that might contaminate your skin. Dermatologists say the blemishes are irritated and spread by such things as wash cloths, complexion brushes and powder puffs that are not kept sterile. In lieu of a wash cloth, until your skin clears, each time you wash use a fresh sterile gauze pad (available at the drugists). And for the rest of your life, use a clean piece of absorbent cotton or a cotton ball when you apply cosmetics.

The brilliant evening star is a symbol of many things to many folk. Mariners hail it as a good omen, for it usually forecasts a clear, calm night and smooth sailing. The shepherd tending his flock on a desolate hillside gratefully notes its appearance in the heavens, for its friendly light offers an intangible sort of companionship during his lonely vigil. To many, the star is representative of God's infinite power and wisdom.

Just as this star touches hearts in countless different ways, so may the Church bring to those in all walks of life, peace and comfort which lead to a happier, more fruitful pattern of life.

Let us make the Church our guiding light. We can brighten our lives if we accept the teaching of the Scriptures as guideposts along the pathway to future endeavors.

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake, (2) For his children's sake, (3) For the sake of his community and nation, (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Gov. Carvel Dislikes Lashing Sentence

DOVER, Del. (AP)—Gov. Elbert N. Carvel says recent publicity about Delaware's whipping post has been "damaging to Delaware and to the whole United States."

"I have gone on record before as being opposed to mandatory lashing," Carvel told a news conference. "I have always been against cruel and inhuman punishment."

Delaware is the only state in the union which still has a whipping post. No one had been whipped over the past 10 years but the controversy was stirred Nov. 13 when Judge Stewart Lynch of Superior Court reinstated a sentence of 20 lashes on Franklin W. Cannon, 19, of Dover, for parole violation.

Lynch has set no date for the lashing.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD — Ever since Paul Winter and his jazz sextette rocked the East Room of the White House with their bossa nova music in one of the recent concerts staged by the First Lady, the Latin-American dance step has rapidly outdated the twist. After the concert "by young people for young people" staged for the children of diplomats and government officials, Mrs. Kennedy told Winters it was "simply wonderful. There has never been anything like it here before."

Producer Sam Katzman is going to do his part to see that everyone knows about the bossa nova. He's bringing the top bossa nova (it means "new feeling") artists here from Central and South America, and will also use Chubby Checker, who introduced the twist, as one of the stars of his cast.

The movie will roll Jan. 5 in Hollywood for Sam's independent company. The picture, of course, will be called "Bossa Nova."

4 Streets Accepted By County Board

The Allegany County Board of Commissioners yesterday accepted four streets of the Bel Air housing development on McMillen Highway for inclusion in the county roads system.

Robert H. Downing, vice president of the development, and William Walsh, attorney, met with the board to complete the filing of right of ways and agreements required in such procedures. Also included is an agreement on drainage of the streets.

The Bel Air development will qualify under FHA regulations by virtue of the acceptance of the county of the streets for maintenance. The county will maintain the streets and also provide snow removal with the firm posting cash bond pending receipt of state gasoline tax monies next July 1 by the county.

Given Vaccine

MELBOURNE, Australia (UPD)—More than 4,000 residents of the central Australian town of Alice Springs have been given anti-typoid vaccine in the past two days because of fears of an epidemic there.

Charlton Heston in a costume drama is automatic money in the bank—and nobody knows this better than Charlton Heston. Now winding up "The Fall of the Roman Empire" in Madrid, Chuck has bought "The Warrior" by Leslie Stevens in which he'll star himself.

"The Warrior" is, of all things, a medieval sexy comedy, concerning the ancient "droit de seigneur," which meant that the boss man of any village could claim for a night, any beautiful maiden.

Chuck is now negotiating for talented John Frazier, who was with him in "El Cid" to play his younger brother, and he has borrowed Walter Selzer away from Pennebaker Productions to act as producer on the film starting early next spring.

W. Va. Economy May Operate At Record Levels

Busy Christmas Season Expected

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—West Virginia's economy may operate at record levels both for the coming Christmas season and for the year as a whole, the state chamber of Commerce reported Friday.

Based on an outstanding performance in October, the chamber said:

—"The state's economy appeared to be gathering momentum as it headed into what should be a record Christmas season."

—"1962 will go into the books as the best year in the State's economic history" if the October trend holds during November and December.

The "Business Index" published monthly by the chamber said that based on totals for the first 10 months of this year, 1962 was leading 1961 in 17 of the 22 indicators used by the chamber to measure business and industry performance.

Crude petroleum output led the parade with an increase of 31.3 per cent for the 10-month period, followed by auto sales up 17.2 per cent and average monthly unemployment down 20.7 per cent at 66,000.

Coal production showed a 7.5 per cent gain, followed by natural gas production 6.2 per cent, lumber output 9.2 per cent, carloadings of Class I railroads 6.1 per cent, consumers sales tax collection 8.1 per cent, gross sales tax collections 7.6 per cent, bank deposits 6.2 per cent and average weekly earnings in manufacturing up 3.7 per cent to $101.02.

Indicators trailing last year's 10-month performance included cash farm income, dollar value of building permits, average weekly earnings of coal miners and total employment.

The index also showed that during October alone, 14 of the 22 indicators improved their performance over September levels.

"This was a welcome reversal after 14 indicators headed downward in September," the Chamber said.

Unemployment Rate Drops In West Virginia

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—West Virginia's unemployment rate is continuing to drop—helped along by out-migration of jobless workers.

The State Employment Security Department reported Friday that the number of jobless declined 1,100 to 56,500 from September to October, representing 9.6 per cent of the work force.

However, the labor force was down 3,700 to 536,000 for the same period and down 28,000 for the past year.

Additional reports covering the Clarksburg, Fairmont and Roncove-White Sulphur Springs areas showed declines in unemployment ranging from 14 to 17.6 per cent for the 60 days ending at mid-October.

During the two-month period, unemployment in the Fairmont area dropped 14 per cent to 2,150 while the area's total labor force decreased 2.3 per cent to 22,300.

In the Clarksburg labor market area, joblessness dropped 15.1 per cent to 2,750 while employment increased nearly 1 per cent. The area's total labor force in October was listed at 33,880, a drop of less than 1 per cent from the August total.

The department said unemployment in the Roncove-White Sulphur Springs area showed a sharp 17.6 per cent drop to 1,220. During the same period, the total labor force in the area dropped 3.7 per cent to 13,160 while employment was cut by 2 per cent to 11,940.

The reports said, however, that unemployment in the Fairmont and Clarksburg areas is expected to register a seasonal increase during the winter months.

The department said unemployment in the Roncove-White Sulphur Springs area, unemployment also will show seasonal increases but not to the level recorded for the same period in the past two years.

B&O Fireman Is Honored By Brotherhood

GRAFTON, W. Va. (UPI)—Clark R. Heavener, 52, a Baltimore and Ohio Railroad locomotive fireman whose alert spotting of a defective car prevented a possible passenger train wreck, was honored Friday with his union's international safety award.

Heavener, of nearby Simpson, received the October Safety Award of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen.

The union said his inspection of his seven-car passenger train prevented a defective car from crashing into the side of a tunnel near Silver Run, W. Va., not far from Cairo in Ritchie County, last Aug. 31.

The train was nearing the tunnel, traveling at 45 miles an hour on a grade and left hand curve, when Heavener looked back to inspect the cars. He discovered an express car leaning to the left and quickly called on engineer J. T. Carroll to stop.

The train was stopped short of the tunnel and an examination showed a broken spring hanger. Had the train entered the tunnel the defective car, ahead of the passenger cars, would have derailed after hitting the side.

Heavener received the award, a plaque and $250 at a dinner here Friday.

Agent Sought For Handling Surplus Foods

KEYSER — The local division of the Department of Welfare Commodities has issued a statement relative to the discontinuance of distribution of supplies in Elk Garden during December.

The office, through Supervisor Luther Borror, announced earlier that eligible persons receiving commodities at Elk Garden could pick them up between 10 a. m. and 2 p. m. December 10, the regular day for distribution to recipients in Keyser.

Since notices appeared, many residents of Elk District questioned the action particularly during the holiday season when families with children are expecting the food supplies.

Borror explained that Mrs. Wanda Copeland resigned this month as distribution agent at Elk Garden after doing the work since May 1961.

Mrs. Copeland told public officials that she had been doing the job at no cost. She said she was employed by the Department of Welfare Commodity Division in August 1961 and continued to serve as agent until this month. She reportedly had requested assistance while she was distribution agent for Elk Garden but none was forthcoming.

She said another woman and sometimes a couple of men in the area would help her on distribution day.

Borror said he sent help from Keyser on several occasions. Mrs. Copeland also stated that she had asked the Mayor and Council of Elk Garden to meet with her in an attempt to reach a solution to the problem, but that no help came from that source, organizations or individuals.

Borror announced that if Elk District will provide a responsible person to serve as agent for the area he will return to the practice of having commodities distributed in Elk Garden. If arrangements can be made, it will be resumed in December.

He explained that in Ridgeley the commodities are distributed by the office of the mayor and the Police Department. He said no one had contacted the divisional office in Keyser regarding the stoppage of commodity distribution, but that any information concerning the situation could be obtained at his office here.

Planning Unit Will Meet In Westernport

Pitometer Survey Will Begin Soon

WESTERNPORT — The first report of consultants who are conducting a survey of Westernport preparatory to making suggestions for improvements will be presented at a meeting of the Westernport Planning Commission next Thursday at 7:30 p. m.

Jack Wood and William Stueby, representatives of the Harland Bartholomew Associates, planning consultants, will report their progress.

Richard Gucker or a representative of the State Planning Commission, and John Lawson, Hagerstown, planning consultant of the Potomac Edison Company, will also be present.

Meanwhile, a complete survey of the water system of the Town of Westernport to explore the possibility of hidden leaks is expected to begin soon, according to officials.

The firm of Pitometer Associates of New York has submitted a bid of $1,000 to survey the town's estimated eight miles of water lines. The work was suggested by Robert L. Kalbaugh, water commissioner, at a meeting of the Mayor and Council last week.

Levels in the reservoir and in the water storage tank have indicated that either hidden leaks exist in the water system or that a great deal more water is being used than in previous months.

The firm selected to conduct the survey has completed similar work in the City of Cumberland where a number of hidden leaks were found, Commissioner Kalbaugh reported.

UCT Members Confer

relations representative of Roanoke, Va., Ernest T. Johnson, promotional director for Maryland and the District of Columbia and James H. Brant, senior counselor for the local unit.

U.S. Delinquent Rate Slightly Lower In '61

Why is it that the United States, which has the highest per capita income in the world, also has the highest juvenile delinquency rate?

That question was posed by David L. Curran, director of the three state-operated boys' forestry camps in Western Maryland, in a talk to the Cumberland Kiwanis Club Thursday at Central YMCA.

There was a period in the late 1940s when the delinquency rate appeared to be dropping. But then it began a period of steady increase which was broken only last year.

Confirmation of this decline in the juvenile delinquency rate came early in November in a statement from Mrs. Katherine B. Oettinger, director of the Children's Bureau of the U. S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

Mrs. Oettinger reported that for the first time in 13 years the number of juvenile delinquency cases coming before juvenile courts has shown a slight drop.

"Our figures for 1961," she said, "show a one per cent drop, nationwide, in the number of cases coming before the courts in a year when the child population was increasing by three per cent."

"This data certainly gives us no room for complacency. We can't by any means be sure that we have turned the corner so far as preventing and controlling juvenile delinquency is concerned," she added.

Mr. Curran pointed out that it costs the state about $2,800 per year for each boy in the three forestry camps. However, this is less than the state average of $3,500 for each juvenile in a correctional institution in Maryland.

Forestry camps, which had their beginnings in California in the depression, are considered better than industrial schools in attempting to rehabilitate some juvenile delinquents.

Phoebus Attacks Scull For Handling Of Caucus

SALISBURY (AP) — State Sen. Harry T. Phoebus Friday night criticized David Scull, chairman of the Republican Party in Maryland, for calling the caucus in Baltimore at which Del. J. Glenn Beall Jr.

Phoebus, currently the Senate minority leader, said the House and Senate caucuses normally are held the night before the General Assembly session opens.

The veteran Somerset County legislator said Scull "is trying to make a mess out of the Republican Senate group like he did with the party."

"The returns from the recent election show just how bad a job he did for the party," Phoebus said during an interview broadcast over a Salisbury radio station.

"Scull made a deal with various delegates to put Beall in as House minority leader but failed to get Sen. Gude in because he could not muster the necessary votes."

Gilbert Gude was elected state senator from Montgomery County in an upset over Democratic incumbent Margaret Schweinhaut.

Phoebus said he believes "it was rather dumb for Scull to call a caucus 30 days ahead of time, thereby forcing the Republican party to wash its linens a month before the session begins."

"Usually," Phoebus said, "the Senate minority leader and the House minority leader are elected the night before the opening of the General Assembly."

"I didn't believe anybody could be that dumb. I would never want David Scull managing my campaign for me."

Asked about reports that he would support Sen. Edward Hall of Calvert County for Senate minority leader, Phoebus said: "No one has asked me for his support yet."

City Hall Buildings Being Improved

The Street Department is working on a number of projects to improve City Hall and City Hall Annex, according to Mrs. Lucile Roeder, street commissioner.

At City Hall, the projects include enclosing the switchboard in the rotunda so it can be locked at night, and remodeling of a basement storage room for the use of the City Clerk's staff.

In the annex, the Public Safety Building, street workers will install a fire door on the paint shop in the basement and install an exhaust fan to remove fumes from the shop.

Enlists In Navy

Joseph R. Diehl, 18, son of Mrs. Glen Shipley, 13 Laing Avenue, enlisted in the Navy at the local recruiting office Tuesday. He has been assigned to the Navy Receiving Station, Washington, to await further orders. Prior to his enlistment, Diehl was a member of the Naval Reserve here.

Mathias Urges Positive GOP Leadership

BALTIMORE (AP) — Republican Rep. Charles McC. Mathias of Maryland's 6th District said Friday night that Republicans made excellent gains in the Maryland Legislature in 1962. He warned, however, that they must come up with a positive, dynamic program if they expect to keep and expand their gains in 1966.

Speaking before some 200 persons representing the GOP State Central Committee and the Republican delegation to the legislature, Mathias said:

"Unless you see the initiative and supply leadership in the General Assembly, Maryland and the nation will drift closer and closer towards the extinction of the concept of a federal republic."

He said the 1963 General Assembly would deal with many items which still are the subject of state activity, but which may become federalized if the state fails to act on them.

"In this category I would include congressional redistricting, medical care for the aged and public education," he said.

Earlier, the Republicans heard Rogers C. B. Morton, newly elected congressman from the Eastern Shore's 1st District, stress much the same thing.

"If we can put forward the right kind of program, we will pick up many Democrats and soon have a real two-party system," Morton said. "Let's see if we can't do something rather than be against something. This country has the greatest system of free enterprise in the world and I say it can carry us through the space age if we let it."

State Insurance Program Starts

BALTIMORE (AP) — An insurance program insuring deposits of state-chartered savings and loan associations officially starts operations Saturday.

A bill establishing the system, called the Maryland Savings-Share Insurance Corporation, was passed by the Maryland General Assembly at the last session. It operates primarily for the benefit of those savings and loan firms which are not eligible for federal insurance, and will insure each account of member firms up to $25,000.

So far, 189 associations have been approved for membership in the program, but only 57 have indicated their intentions of joining. Another 81 associations were rejected by the corporation.

Under the law establishing the system, each member must make an initial deposit with the company of 1 per cent of its total savings deposits. Another 1 per cent must be contributed within six months after a firm joins the corporation.

Under the law establishing the insurance corporation, at least 25 firms had to join before it becomes operational.

Safeguard Against The Nuclear Threat

The nuclear threat to this hemisphere was introduced by the Soviet Union. Only Soviet arms can revive it. Therefore, it is up to Premier Khrushchev to provide assurance against its return—with or without Castro's acquiescence.

Castro's demand for reciprocal UN examination of exile camps or other bases in the United States can have no part in this arrangement. Neither can the future status of U. S. installations at Guantanamo, or any other point on Fidel's list.

Precious little consideration was given Cuban sovereignty when Moscow moved its nuclear arsenal onto Cuban soil. President Kennedy acted accordingly, in full recognition of the risk, in full appreciation of the resources that might be needed to dispel the threat.

Only superior power capable of being employed where needed can make diplomacy effective. President Kennedy acknowledged this point in expressing his appreciation to the fighting men called up in the Cuban crisis.

In effect, the President also was speaking to Premier Khrushchev—and to Fidel Castro, if he had the good sense to listen.

What Is Accounting?

One of the most interesting colloquies held before a Congressional committee in a long time has to do with accounting procedures. The case has to do with Billie Sol Estes which involves many questions of accountability. Why did the government accountants not catch on to what was going on? In private enterprise, why is it so often that when cases come into court, particularly when stockholders sue management for malfeasance or misfeasance, so much time is spent discovering why the accountant's reports do not precisely reflect the condition of the business?

There is no question in this discussion as to the ability or honesty of the accountants. The inquiry is into techniques, particularly preventive techniques, that is, where an accountant can foresee an error and fails to call attention to it because the error has not yet been completed. Mr. Harrill, the Department of Agriculture accountant, said:

"If we find an office where they are not able to sit down and discuss the findings with us, and, if you want to call it that, argue with us and justify their points or attempt to justify them, that, in itself, is a major finding, and if anything disturbs an auditor, it is that. . . . They may talk us out of some cases, justifiably so. That happens all the time. We don't try to stick to something just because we found it."

In private enterprise, the issue is whether the accountant is protecting the stockholders or protecting management. This is particularly true in an analysis of inventory, when an accountant is willing to take management's figures until the business is so loaded down with inventory that it has to take a "bath." This can run into huge losses which involve "write-offs" to the detriment of the stockholder. Proper accounting would surely protect the owners of the property, the stockholders, against management which has a vested interest in covering up errors. But it is management which engages the accountants.

Now, let me indicate the manner of thinking of a "numbers man":

"If the Billie Sol Estes case hadn't popped the way it did, and we had been able to wait until after the fact, made our audit, submitted a report, recommendations for this, that or something else, maybe an investigation, maybe a recommendation for a decision by General Counsel, or several other things, if that had been able to go on through to the State office, back into Washington and to the operating people, and if we had received a reply to that report indicating the action, I am referring to that as the maximum, from zero to maximum.

"The other point is we stopped this work as of a certain date. Our files today show an incomplete situation."

In a word, whatever Billie Sol Estes was doing was "an incomplete situation" to the audit office. In private industry, a company can lose huge sums while the accountants keep the situation incomplete. Why do they not report that we cannot make an honest report because we cannot find honest figures? That would probably be an admission of incompetence. How long is it necessary to wait for a crooked situation to disclose itself? At what point does ordinary auditing cease and policing begin?

The defense against an incomplete audit, if translated into police activity, would be like saying that a man must first jump off the 68th floor of the Empire State Building before any steps can be taken to prevent him from taking the plunge. Perhaps the theory is that if he is dope enough to want to kill himself, he should be allowed to. On the other hand, suppose he kills a dozen people in the process, who is to blame? When a firm of accountants permits the stockholders to lose their money because of a difference of opinion between the accountants and management, the accountants wait "until after the fact." This explains the recent "shlock" market in Wall Street.

The probability is that accountants should be made responsible for all errors and omissions. The argument against that is that it would cost too much to discover whether an inventory was marked up, let us say, 100 percent to affect net worth. On the other hand, it costs a great deal more when many lose their money when the amounts are accepted by a public accountant on the say-so of management. A bit of moral policing can hurt nobody.

The Billie Sol Estes investigation before the Permanent Subcommittee on Investigations provides food for thought.

Pentagon Directive Means Total News-Control

WASHINGTON

Political systems evolve quite unavoidably, like most other organisms. But for healthy evolution, three rules must always be observed when any political system is to be profoundly changed.

Such changes should never be made arbitrarily and huggemugger, without prudent recognition of their real importance.

Such changes should never be made without due regard to past experience.

Such changes should never be made without the most careful consideration of the dangers they may later give rise to.

In the matter of the news-control directives issued by the Pentagon and State Department in the Cuban crises, President Kennedy has now violated all three of the foregoing rules. While withdrawing the State Department directive, the President has kept the far more vicious and radical Pentagon directive in force.

This decision to continue the Pentagon news-control directive is much less tentative and temporary, moreover, than the President has somewhat over-cleverly sought to make it seem. The matter was in fact weighed with some care by the President himself and Secretary of Defense Robert McNamara. They concluded, according to report, that they would like to wait and see "how it works out."

What might have been excused as an expedient in the white-hot days of the Cuban crisis thus acquires semi-permanence—in fact, full permanence, unless public protest is too strong. No protest can be too vehement, for this is not just a profound political change; it is also a change in a viciously dangerous direction.

The mechanics of the change are simple to the point of being deceptive. The Pentagon directive forbids any official of the Defense Department to meet with a "representative of the news media" (meaning any person having the task of maintaining the flow of public information, which makes the wheels of democracy go round) unless one of three conditions is fulfilled.

The conditions are that the official talking to a reporter must either be accompanied by one of the bun-faced minions of the Pentagon public relations branch; or he must be accompanied by another official of some rank; or, if he goes it alone, he must send a memorandum in writing to the bun-faced minions, noting that he has just seen Mister X to discuss Topic Y.

To persons without reportorial experience, including Secretary

McNamara, this directive may seem innocent enough. In fact, however, it is an instrument of total news-control.

The control is potentially total because no officer or official in his senses will dare to see any reporter who has got into serious hot water with the Secretary of Defense, by reporting what the Secretary wishes to conceal. The price of reportorial independence, in fact, will be a news blackout.

Not all reporters value their independence, to be sure. Only a small number challenged the fla-

SUMMIT MEETING — One worthwhile negative development resulting from the Cuban crisis is the apparent disenchantment of Khrushchev for a summit meeting with President Kennedy. Khrushchev had been throwing out thinly-veiled hints for months that he'd like to confer with the President on pressing international problems — a move that the Russian has always found profitable from a propaganda standpoint. However, the hints ended abruptly with Kennedy's firm stand on Cuba.

Also, there have been no recent indications that Khrushchev plans to follow through on his idea to visit the United Nations General Assembly. This was the avenue he had chosen to force Kennedy to see him. It would have been diplomatically impossible for Kennedy to avoid inviting the Russian to the White House if he had journeyed to this country.

Apparently, Khrushchev sees nothing to be gained in holding a highly-publicized meeting with the man who had just bested him in cold war brinkmanship. In fact, Khrushchev might well have considered that a meeting at this time would be too much subject to world conjecture that he was seeking a way of appeasing the United States.

NOSE-COUNTING — President Kennedy's medical care for the aged program was narrowly defeated in the Senate earlier this year by a vote of 52 to 48. In November's elections, six Senators who voted against the program were defeated for re-election, and were replaced by Kennedy Democrats. Two Senators who voted for it lost to Republicans.

If these changes are reflected in the next session of the Senate, the vote for the identical bill could be favorable — 52 to 48. This shift in power is behind the administration's effort to devise a new strategy to push medicare through Congress.

The idea worked out is to have the Senate vote some time during the upcoming session on the medicare program, but not to push for it in the House until 1964. In that year, with all of the House members up for election, and with the threat of the anger of a President campaigning for re-election, the Senate-passed measure will be pushed in the House.

Not Safe For Cough Syncope Victim To Drive

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

A man lost control of his car and killed a pedestrian. All he remembered prior to the accident was a violent coughing spell. Tests showed he had not been drinking and that he was mentally alert and well coordinated.

This man had cough syncope (fainting) and physicians testified in his behalf when the case came to trial. The condition is not common but numerous reports on the disorder have appeared in medical journals. Serious accidents have occurred on several occasions and it is obvious that victims of this disease should not drive.

Coughing sets up a reflex that slows the pulse or lowers the blood pressure. As a result, the blood supply to the brain is curtailed and the individual blacks out or faints. This is all it takes to relax the hold on the steering wheel and to veer off the road.

We do not know why some people faint more readily than others. In all probability they inherit a nervous system that is overly sensitive to certain body reflexes. Many individuals faint when they see blood, smell obnoxious odors, or with ordinary pain such as that associated with a hypodermic injection. Others faint when the reflex is set into motion by pressure on sensitive nerve centers in the neck or when persons with certain types of heart disease try to exert themselves. Passing out often is preceded by weakness, giddiness, blurring of vision, pallor, and sweating.

Last week we told of narcolepsy, a strange malady in which the individual loses consciousness after laughing or becoming emotionally upset. This is more closely related to sleep or coma than is a faint. Epilepsy also is easily confused with fainting. In the major form (grand mal), jerking movements of the extremities and head occur. The minor type (petit mal) resembles a blackout and is momentary in duration.

These different conditions are mentioned because the bystander can be helpful in describing the behavior of these individuals to

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

Wonderful are the ways of Washington bureaucracy! Here's a story about a Californian who applied through regular channels for a job in Washington he knew he was qualified to fill. While cooling his heels awaiting a reply, he happened to meet in person, in San Francisco, the head of the very agency to which he had applied, and was given the position on the spot.

The scene now shifts to Washington. Our Californian had been doing a fine job there for three months when a letter was forwarded to him from his old address telling him that, unfortunately, his application for the job he was now holding down had been denied because he lacked the necessary qualifications.

And here's the kicker: The letter had been signed by himself.

Jay Ward, producer of one of TV's most successful shows, "Bullwinkle," told Columnist Herb Stein about a letter he received from a youthful fan that read: "My father has been difficult with me. Every time he drinks a certain cocktail he throws me around the room. What can I do?" Ward answered, "Send us your dad's recipe. Several fellows who work on our show are having trouble with their kids, too!"

Belated Justice Catches Up With Offenders Exposed By Columnist

By Drew Pearson

Time passed. Quite recently it was revealed that the same Lt. Shimon, now an inspector, was involved in planting an eavesdropping "bug" on an attorney in the Mayflower Hotel. This time Attorney General Kennedy's cohorts called Shimon before a grand jury. He was indicted for attempting to induce perjury by another witness.

Old dogs continue to use old tricks.

Uneven Justice No. 2—Eleven years ago, June 14, 1951, this column revealed how Congressman Frank "everything is made for love" Boykin, D.—Ala., had got his cousin, Frank Prince, a job inside the Reconstruction Finance Corporation where Prince, in turn, helped get a $700,000 loan for the Mobile Paper Company in which Boykin and his children later secured a 40 per cent interest.

It was also revealed that Boykin helped obtain a $450,000 loan from the RFC for a lumber company to which he sells his timber.

The company, Stutts Lumber Industries of Thomasville, Ala., had a $300,000 overdraft at a local bank, so Boykin helped get it a loan of $450,000 from the RFC, with which it paid off its draft and had some money left over to buy the Congressman's timber.

Boykin's cousin, Frank Prince, working inside the RFC, also helped put this loan across.

Six months later, the head of the Stutts Lumber Company, with the head of the Thomasville Bank and its cashier, was indicted.

But the Justice Department did not move against the ebullient Congressman from Alabama whose motto should have been changed to "everything is made for loans." Boykin continued to give venison and bear-meat dinners and throw his weight around Washington, even maneuvered to cut off an investigation of a federal highway scandal in Mobile.

The Democrats were in charge of the Justice Department when the RFC scandal was first revealed, and they did not move to indict their fellow Democrat from Alabama. Nor did the Republicans when they took over the Justice Department.

Recently, however, Attorney General Kennedy indicted Boykin on another conflict-of-interest case, this time a land deal involving a savings and loan executive in Maryland.

Uneven Justice No. 3—The biggest conflict-of-interest case in recent history was that of Dixon-Yates in which a combination of private utilities conspired to get a federal loan and contract to operate in the TVA area in West Memphis, Ark. It was revealed by a Senate committee under Estes Kefauver, (D-Tenn.), that the first Boston Corporation, which masterminded and financed the Dixon-Yates deal, had planted one of its men, Adolfe Wenzell, inside the budget bureau in order to put across the Dixon-Yates contract.

The facts, when finally disclosed, were so shocking that Eisenhower canceled the Dixon-Yates contract. And, when the matter went before the Supreme Court, it held that the planting of Wenzell inside the budget bureau by the First Boston Corporation was a clear conflict of interest.

The Justice Department, however, has not prosecuted. Instead, Attorney General Kennedy's brother-in-law in the White House has appointed as head of the World Bank George D. Woods, top official of the First Boston Corporation and the man who helped mastermind the Dixon-Yates contract. Senator Kefauver has protested, but the job of president of the World Bank does not require Senate confirmation.

It will be interesting to see whether brother Bob, as Attorney General, takes the same forthright stand in prosecuting conflict of interest in high places, such as First Boston, that he has with a relatively obscure police lieutenant and the now defeated Congressman from Mobile, Ala.

Under Kennedy, the goddess of justice appears to be better blindfolded than under his predecessors, but nevertheless peeking just a little.

Portez-moi Back

By John Crosby

PARIS

When you move abroad, you get a lot of advice from the older hands. When I first got here a fellow took me aside and told me, more or less with the air of a man breaking the news that your best friend has just passed away: "There's one thing you should know. The French hate Americans. It's awful. Terrible. But you'll just have to live with it. They don't like us. You'll have to bear up."

Well, I braced myself. I bore up. Then another man took me aside. Very grave. "I suppose you ought to be told. You'll notice it soon enough anyway. The French are so in love with America that they imitate everything we do. Our supermarkets. Our drug stores. Frozen foods. They even use American slang and go to American movies that no one would dream of going to in the States. We all came over here to get away from all that, and what do we find? Quick lunch counters, for God's sake. They even call them quick lunch counters! It's awful! Terrible! The French are nuts about America."

Well, I was pretty bloody boulevarse. (I'm nuts about that word boulevarse. If there was ever a word that sums up the condition I'm in most of the time, it's boulevarse.) Anyhow, they hate us. They love us.

I was just getting adjusted to this ambivalence when I was boulevarsed all over again. Guy takes me aside and says, again in that tone of voice reserved for a death in the family: "I suppose you've noticed. The French have grown totally indifferent to us. After the first World War they loved us. After the second, they hated us. Now they just don't care. They don't need our money any more. They got their own. They got their own atomic bomb. They just ignore us and I can't stand being ignored. It's awful! Terrible!"

Well, The funny thing about all this is that all three of these wildly conflicting attitudes are true. They love us. They hate us. And they're indifferent. Well, the French are very complicated. Nobody else could be all three of those things at once, but the French can. It would take an American to be upset by all three of those attitudes.

If the French love us too much, that's awful. If they hate us, that's terrible. If they're indifferent, oh, my God, how can we live through the day? I mean, what the hell, fellows — we ought to be happy about one of 'em.

All of which leads me very tortuously to what I was getting around to in the first place, which is Yves Berger, the French novelist who just won the Prix Femina, one of the biggest literary prizes in France, with his novel "Le Sud." Berger is a very complicated guy even by French standards and he has written an awfully complicated romance about a Frenchman living in 1958 who raises his children as if they were living in Virginia in 1840. The Frenchman feels that life as it was lived in Virginia in 1840 was just about perfect and he wants himself and his children to emulate it.

Berger has never been to the United States and he's still an authority, having read thousands of books on it. He considers that man reached a perfect equilibrium between nature and civilization in Virginia in 1840 (ever since, things have been sliding pretty steadily downhill) and he intends to stay — in a literary sense — in Virginia in 1840 the rest of his life. His novels will never leave the confines of Virginia (which he has never seen) or the 1840 era (which he never will see). As I say, complicated.

He's going to America next year. He told me over lunch that he's prepared to be bitterly disappointed. "I'm a fan of the United States — not as it is now but as it was." He's going to the States not so much to study us as we are but as we were, plunging into the libraries to read books that aren't available in France.

Eyes flashing fire, he spoke with enthusiasm of the Southern writers—William Faulkner whom he considers one of the most brilliant writers of all time, Carson McCullers, Truman Capote, and that old Southern gentleman, MacKinlay Kantor, whose Civil War novel "Andersonville" Berger reveled in. "It relates the story of the first concentration camp in the history of the world." Trust a Frenchman to discover that we had the first concentration camp.

But with all his boundless admiration for things American, Berger is deeply disturbed by it. "The American civilization has been accepted by everyone in Europe and that I think is dangerous. More and more French writers can't write good French. They write bad American. France must remain French."

Top-Rated Teams Take Back Seat To Army-Navy Classic Today

JFK To Attend Service Battle In Philadelphia

USC Meets Irish; Mississippi And Alabama In Action

By JOE SARGIS
UPI Sports Writer

Mississippi and Alabama seek to nail down the last two remaining major bowl berths in college football Saturday while top-ranked Southern California attempts to complete its first perfect-season in 30 years — but they'll all have to take a back seat to THE annual classic between Army and Navy.

Because nearly every American male who has served in the armed forces feels some sort of allegiance, no other game throughout the collegiate football season draws more attention, promotes more controversy and engenders longer in memory than the service classic. This year's game will be no different with the Midshipmen shooting for a fourth straight triumph in a game in which they may start as the underdogs.

Army comes to the game with a superior record (6-3 to 4-5) but against weaker opposition. The Middies have been alternately good and bad this season, but in recent weeks have jelled into a hard-hitting team that is tight on defense but lacks scoring punch.

The Cadets, under new coach Paul Dietzel, a conservative with imagination, and the Middies both use the three-unit substitution system. Army dubs its three "Teams" the "go," "regular" and "Chinese bandits," holdover title from Louisiana State where Dietzel coached before coming to West Point.

Seeing 4th Win

Coach Wayne Hardin of Navy is seeking to set an Annapolis precedent by beating Army four straight times. Army has won only two of the last eight games, but holds a series edge, 30 to 27, with five games ending in ties.

President Kennedy, a former Navy PT boat commander, will be among the more than 100,000 spectators at Philadelphia's Municipal Stadium, while GI Joe and Sailor Bill take their view via television (CBS) beginning at 1:15 p.m. EST. Because Navy is the host team this year the President will sit on the Middies side during the first half and then switch to the Army side for the second.

Meanwhile, Southern California, the West Coast representative in the Rose Bowl this season, is a seven-point favorite to make Notre Dame its 10th straight victim. The game is expected to draw 90,000 to the Los Angeles Coliseum.

Can Expect Trouble

The Trojans always have had trouble with the Irish and this year's game is expected to follow in style. Southern California last beat Notre Dame in 1956 and in their last two games the Irish held the Trojans scoreless.

Mississippi, ranked third, and fifth-ranked Alabama, both needing victories to nail down post-season bowl berths, have far easier pickin's in Mississippi State and Auburn, respectively. The Rebels, in line for the Sugar Bowl berth opposite Arkansas and heading toward their first perfect season ever, are picked by 22 points over traditional rival Mississippi State, while Alabama, which is fighting for the Orange Bowl berth opposite Oklahoma, is a 14½-point favorite over Auburn.

Oklahoma, ranked eighth, closes out its season a 22-point favorite over Oklahoma State, while in the only other game with bearing on a post-season bowl, Florida is a 5½-point favorite to beat Miami (Fla.). The winner of this game more than likely will get an invitation to the Gator Bowl opposite Penn State.

Five Maryland College Quints Open Up Today

By The Associated Press

Maryland, Mt. St. Mary's, Baltimore, Frostburg, and Bowie start the Free State College basketball season Saturday night.

Penn State is at Maryland, Baltimore at Frostburg, Hofstra at Mount St. Mary's and Bowie at Kutztown, Pa.

From a success standpoint, most state interest will be focused on Emmitsburg for an idea on the prospective strength of Mount St. Mary's.

Coach Jim Phelan has three holdovers from his national small college champions of last season. He will build his ninth team around John O'Reilly, Ed Pfeiffer and Dave Maloney.

At College Park, Coach Bud Millikan is braced for another rocky Maryland season. The Terps won only eight of 25 games during the last campaign and the outlook for improvement is not encouraging.

Three seniors, Jerry Greenspan, Bob Elcher and Connie Carpenter, also will form the backbone of Maryland's team. Greenspan scored 14 and Elcher 13 points in Maryland's 71-65 loss to Penn State last year.

BAGS PENNSY BEAR — Harold F. Nixon, of Valley Road, is shown with the 300-pound bear he killed in Tioga county, Pa., this week. He brought down the sow with a .30-06 rifle. Others in the hunting party were C. E. Bush, Hyndman, and James Barrett and Fred Graziani, both of Cumberland.

Cumberland Hunter Slays Bear In Pennsylvania Grand Canyon

Harold Nixon Bags 300-Pound Sow In Tioga County, Pa.

A Cumberland hunter bagged his first bear on Monday and he got it in the "Grand Canyon" of Pennsylvania.

The Keystone State's "grand canyon" is located in Tioga county and Harold F. Nixon, 39, of Valley Road, bagged a sow which he says dressed out to 300 pounds. Nixon dispatched the animal with a .30-06 rifle. It was the second bear he had ever seen and he saw four that day. He has been hunting several years.

In the hunting party with Nixon were C. E. Bush, Hyndman, and James Barrett and Fred Graziani, both of Cumberland.

Nixon says that the black bear he shot had a year-old cub which stayed within 25 yards of the area even after he had started dressing the mother.

The local nimirr reports that Tioga county where he slew the animal (eight miles from Morris, Pa.) is about 270 miles northeast of Cumberland. He added that the "grand canyon" of Pennsylvania is 50 miles long and the section is noted for its scenic beauty.

Royals Defeat Syracuse Nats

Twyman, 'Big O' Pace 130-117 Win

CINCINNATI (UPI) — Cincinnati's veteran one-two scoring punch of Oscar Robertson and Jack Twyman led the Royals to a 130-117 victory Friday night over the Syracuse Nationals.

It was the third straight triumph for Cincinnati and moved the Royals to within one game of the second-place Nats in the Eastern Division of the National Basketball Association.

Twyman scored 20 of his 30 points in the first half and also picked off 10 rebounds as Cincinnati barged to a 22-point lead early in the second quarter.

Syracuse fought back to within 14 points at intermission, 66-52, and was as close as eight points late in the game behind some spectacular shooting by Porter Meriwether and Joe Roberts.

But after pulling to 123-115, the Nats fell far behind again when Twyman, Robertson and Arlen Buckhorn went on a seven-point burst to give the Royals their 10th win in Cincinnati's last 15 games. Robertson led all scorers with 31 points. Syracuse had eight men in double figures, paced by John Kerr with 17.

Rens Purchase Tyra From Long Beach

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — The Pittsburgh Rens have bolstered their front line attack for the forthcoming visit of the league leading Long Beach Chiefs Sunday.

The purchase of 6-foot-8 Charley Tyra from the Philadelphia Tapers Thursday gives the Rens another experienced forward.

Purple Heart Wins, 3-0

The Purple Heart Club won three games from the Cumberland Eagles in an Allegany County Men's Shuffleboard League match Thursday night. Big Ed Downton paced the winners with 24 tallies. Felten, Deneen and Allen led the Eagles with 17 tallies each.

Cage Bribers Have Charges Thrown Out

46 Counts Against Fixers Dismissed

RALEIGH, N. C. (UPI)—Judge Herman R. Clark Friday dismissed 46 counts against two St. Louis men on trial on charges of conspiring to bribe and bribing college basketball players.

Clark allowed motions for nonsuit on 21 of 39 counts against Dave Goldberg and 25 of 39 counts against Steve Lekometros after the state wrapped up its case. He dismissed the charges on grounds of insufficient evidence.

The charges dismissed involved two games for which the defendants were accused of "rigging." These were the University of North Carolina-N.C. State game of Feb. 17, 1960, and the N.C. State-Georgia Tech game of Dec. 17, 1960.

Clark also threw out charges against Lekometros in connection with a Jan. 7, 1961, N.C. State-Duke game played in Durham.

Both sides completed their cases Friday, the prosecution in the morning and the defense shortly after Clark's ruling.

During the state's case, four former N.C. State cagers testified they were bribed to "throw" or "shave points" in a number of contests over a three-year period.

The scope of the alleged operation extended from the Atlantic Coast to the Pacific as a number of men who the state alleges were conspirators disclosed other bribery attempts to players.

Wagman had described channels through which money was filtered from St. Louis to the hands of cagers. He said large sums of money would be mailed or telegraphed from contact to contact with each intermediary chopping his share of the proceeds.

West Virginia Plays Citadel

Morgantown Site Of Game Tonight

MORGANTOWN, W. Va. (UPI)—West Virginia opens its season and defense of its Southern Conference basketball title Saturday against an underdog Citadel team that hopes to repeat an upset it pulled here two years ago.

In the only meeting of the teams last season, West Virginia whipped the Citadel 78-70 at Charleston, S. C., but the season before The Citadel ended a 44-game WVU home winning streak in Mountaineer Field House.

The Citadel posted an 8-15 record last season and has lost high-scoring Gary Daniels. The Citadel also lacks experience, with only one senior in the lineup.

West Virginia, an overwhelming favorite to repeat as conference champion, will start a veteran lineup with 6-foot-5 junior Mike Wolfe the only newcomer.

Gale Catlett will be at the other forward post, 6-foot-8 Tom Lowry at the pivot and Rod Thorn and Jim McCormick at guards.

Thorn, WVU's All-America candidate, averaged 23.7 points a game last year and led the team in rebounding despite the fact he was a backcourt man. He also is outstanding on defense and in ball-handling.

Patriots Rally To Beat Titans

Late Score Gives Boston 24-17 Win

BOSTON (UPI) — An 80-yard Tom Yewic to Jimmy Colclough touchdown pass with just 80 seconds remaining Friday night gave the Boston Patriots a 24-17 comeback American Football League victory over the New York Titans.

An unruly crowd ripped down the goal posts and mobbed the players from both teams as well as the officials as the game ended.

Yewic, who earlier had run 4 and 27 yards for both Boston touchdowns, threw a perfect long pass that Colclough caught over his shoulder at the New York 37.

Colclough earlier had missed four similar long passes. He outdistanced the Titan defense for the payoff score.

Titan quarterback Johnny Green threw for the other New York touchdown, a 2-yard scoring pass the flanker Don Maynard in the first quarter.

Bill Shockley, who kicked both Titan conversions, kicked a 36-yard field goal in the second period to give New York a 10-3 halftime lead.

Gino Capelletti's 32-yard field goal was Boston's only first-half score.

the GREAT PLAY in College Football

THE WHISTLE'S shrill had scarcely faded from the clear autumn sky. Many of the thousands who were jamming Detroit's Dineen Field were watching the opening kickoff still en route to their seats. Latecomers missed it entirely.

Undeclared Holy Cross (5-0) raced downfield under Crusader tackle Pete Lingua's opening kickoff.

The Detroit fullback took it on his five-yard line and started back. Vince Kadi, a sophomore who replaced the veteran Peter Rajkovich just minutes before the game, took three steps and suddenly stopped. As the Crusaders closed in around him, Kadi kicked the ball back up the field. The stunned Easterners watched the pigskin roll all the way to their five-yard line where Titan guard Robert Burns was waiting to down it.

Detroit coach Gus Dorais' surprise had worked to perfection and Holy Cross never recovered.

Titan left halfback Doug Nott tallied in the first period on a reverse around his own right end and then hit end Paul Storrer with a 50-yard touchdown strike just before intermission.

Nott threw to Norbert Reister for an 18-yard score in the third period and then Kadi, who had started it all, finished the rout with an 80-yard sprint for a score in the final period. The final score: Detroit 24, Holy Cross 0.

Distributed by King Features Syndicate

Vince Kadi

It was the first defeat for coach Eddie Anderson as a Holy Cross mentor whose 1933 Crusaders had won five straight, including a 10-7 victory over Harvard and a 19-7 triumph over Brown. Holy Cross won two more that year before bowing to Boston College, 13-9, in the finale.

Detroit won seven of eight starts that year, blanking six opponents. The only Titan setback came at the hands of Duquesne, 14-0.

Kadi was killed during the summer of 1934 when he fell from a horse.

Prominent Cage Official Appears At Clinic Today

Dr. Fox To Serve As Interpreter

Dr. Phil Fox of Washington, D. C., one of the leading basketball officials in the eastern United States, will serve as rules interpreter at today's cage clinic at the Allegany High School gymnasium, beginning at 1 p. m.

The clinic, which is open to the public, is being sponsored by Potomac Valley District Board Number 204, governing body of the officials who work area high school and college contests.

Dr. Fox, who is football coach at District of Columbia Teachers College, is eminently qualified as an interpreter and this will be the 26th clinic in which he has acted in that capacity.

Last season, Dr. Fox was one of the officials in the NCAA championship battle between Ohio State and Cincinnati. He is regularly assigned to games in the Atlantic Coast and Southern Conferences, as well as the Ivy League.

A ten-man squad of players from Allegany will be used to demonstrate the actual play situations which are brought up.

Clifton Van Roby, interpreter for the local district board, is in charge of the clinic. Other officers of the organization are John D. Fox, president; Paul Flick, vice-president; and John Chisholm, secretary-treasurer.

New York Eager To Clinch Eastern Crown Tomorrow

Giants Can Move Into Playoff By Beating Chicago

By NORMAN MILLER
UPI Sports Writer

The New York Giants have three games left in which to clinch their division championship in the National Football League, but they'd like to beat the Green Bay Packers into the playoff by beating the Chicago Bears Sunday.

New York has a cozy lead in the Eastern Division, but has three tough games remaining. After meeting the Bears, the Giants play the Cleveland Browns, who still have a glimmer of hope for the title, and the Dallas Cowboys.

The Packers have only a one-game lead over the Detroit Lions in the Western Division, but have an easier remaining schedule than the Giants. Green Bay plays the Los Angeles Rams Sunday, then goes to the West Coast for games against the San Francisco 49ers and the Rams.

Last time the Giants played the Bears was in the 1956 championship playoff when New York won a 47-7 romp.

Giants Favored
The men who make the odds have installed the Giants 3½-point favorites to beat the Bears at Chicago and the Packers 21-point picks over the Rams for their game at Milwaukee.

In Sunday's other games, the Browns are the choice by six points over the Cowboys at Dallas; the Lions are picked by 12 at home over the Baltimore Colts; the Washington Redskins are favored by 1½ at home over the Philadelphia Eagles; the Pittsburgh Steelers by six at home over the St. Louis Cardinals, and the San Francisco Forty Niners are 5 over the Vikings at Minnesota.

Win Six Straight

The Giants' six-game winning streak is the club's longest since 1952. They turned in peak performances in five of those wins (all except their narrow Nov. 4 win over the Cardinals) and coach Al Sherman wants just one more big win so his men can play their final two games without pennant pressure.

Collins, Torres Fight On Coast

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Two hard-punching young welterweights, Raymundo (Battling) Torres and Irish Billy Collins, put impressive records on the block Saturday night when they clash at Olympic Auditorium in the national television fight of the week.

Torres, a 21-year-old native of Reynosa, Mexico, has recorded 39 knockouts in 50 pro bouts and has lost only four times, but each of his defeats was by a knockout. The victors were Carlos Ortiz, Joe Brown and Cisco Andrade twice.

Collins is the protégé of Detroit industrialist C. W. Smith who feels the 25-year-old native of Nashville, Tenn., has great potential and is just finding himself as a boxer.

Defeat In Two Weeks

NEW YORK (UPI)—Stocks suffered their worst defeat in two weeks Friday as profit takers cashed in on the recent market boom.

Rails were about the only outstanding group, up 0.75 in the Dow-Jones averages — their tenth consecutive gain. Strength in this circuit reflects news that a U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals upheld the right to put into effect sweeping changes in work rules to eliminate "feather-bedding" practices.

In this group, Chesapeake & Ohio rose 1½, Norfolk & Western 1½ and Erie ½. It was announced after the close that Norfolk & Western had purchased a $1 million block of Erie.

Dow - Jones industrials were off 3.31 and Standard & Poor's 500-stock index slipped 0.15. Trading totaled 4,570,000 shares compared with 5,810,000 on Thursday.

A total of 1,313 issues were traded of which 563 advanced and 498 declined—19 to new 1962 highs and 2 to new lows.

D-J utilities were off 0.86, apparently reflecting a loss of 1¼ in American Electric Power, and 1¼ each in Cleveland Electric and Northern Lighting.

Metals and steels were among the weakest groups. Alcoa lost 1½, Kaiser Aluminum 1½, Magna Copper 2 and Reynolds Metals 1½, the last after announcing plans to cut aluminum production at its Oregon plant.

Among the steels — Bethlehem lost ¾, U.S. Steel ¾ and Youngstown Sheet ¾. Chemicals also were lower with Du Pont down 2¼, Kodak 1, and Allied ¾. Union Carbide firmed on news it is planning to build a plant in North Carolina.

Motors failed to respond to news that production this week is headed for the highest level since the last of January, 1960. General Motors and Ford both eased.

IBM lost 2¼ and Fairchild Camera 1½ in the electronics but General American Oil tacked on 1½ and Champion 1¼ in the oils.

Fairchild Camera topped the most active list on a turnover of 60,900 shares. This was followed by Sperry Rand, off ¼, General Motors, Chrysler, Champion 1½, Erie, Studebaker, which recently announced cuts in production, also was among the most active, up ¼.

Prices on the American Exchange were lower on a turnover of 1,440,000 shares compared with 1,660,000 on Thursday. Features on the AMEX were General Plywood, off 1 reflecting nervousness over an impending court decision on major litigation involving the company. Also featured were Breeze Corp., off 1, and Syntex up 1½.

Chicago Grains

CHICAGO (UPI)—Most grain futures advanced Friday on moderately active dealings on the Chicago Board of Trade.

Wheat closed up ¼ to 1, corn up ¼ to ¾, oats up ¾ to 1, rye off ¼ to 1½, and soybeans unchanged to up ½.

Buyers were encouraged when initial prices to deliver on December contracts proved smaller than expected. Tenders to noon included 1,750,000 bushels of wheat and 200,000 bushels of rye. There were no tenders of corn and oats.

Nearly wheat contracts grew strong on commission and commercial buying. Export business was slow, but dealers expected sales involving large quantities of wheat next week.

Corn prices moved higher under early commission and local buying. Sales were made from resting orders on the way up. Demand was stimulated by firm cash prices, small receipts at terminal markets and a half-cent advance in the government selling price.

Oats advanced with corn in mixed trades. Commission houses worked both sides of the market. Spreaders operated in March and May at a cent difference.

Rye eased at the outset, but some prices turned higher with other grains.

Action was slow in soybeans, with prices generally steady to up small fractions. Oil futures firmed, but meals were lower. Local soybean receipts were 415,000 bushels this week, while 778,000 bushels were shipped out.

Exporters said Holland, Belgium and Italy bought a total of 360,000 bushels of corn. Holland also took 200,000 bushels of soy.

Outside markets were mixed.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, alphabets, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Glenn Beall Jr. To Be Minority Leader Of House

GOP Policy Unit Will Be Formed

Del. J. Glenn Beall Jr., of Frostburg, will be the new minority leader of the House of Delegates.

The Allegany County Republican was selected for the post at a caucus in Baltimore which was attended by 22 of the 25 Republican delegates to the General Assembly.

The vote was made unanimous after Beall won easily on the first ballot by 17-5.

He will succeed Del. Lester B. Reed, of Mt. Savage, who has held the minority leader's position since 1959.

Del. Beall, who is 34, is a son of U.S. Senator J. Glenn Beall and was the top vote-getter in the November 6 election which swept an all-Republican Delegation to the General Assembly into office.

Deter Decision

Only five of the seven Republican senators were present, at the caucus, and they postponed any decision on a Senate minority leader until Dec. 12. On that date they plan to meet in Frederick at the Francis Scott Key Hotel.

There were indications, however, that Edward Hall, senator from Calvert County, would get the post if he decides he wants it. Harry T. Phoebus, senator from Somerset County and present minority leader in the Senate, has indicated he would support Hall.

Phoebus was not present at Friday's meeting, nor was Sen-elect Joseph Alton Jr., of Anne Arundel County, who also has been mentioned prominently for minority leader.

Beall, a 35-year-old insurance executive from Frostburg, said after his election, "We hope to present a positive, constructive program for Maryland in the 1963 legislature."

Will Set Policy

He said he will appoint a committee to formulate future GOP policy. Committee members will be selected from each delegation and meet for the first time next week, he said.

Beall said he could not speak for the entire delegation as yet, but that he personally favored such legislation as public accommodations, automobile inspection and a bill to implement the Curlew Commission report on higher education.

He had no comment to make on the slot machine issue but he had said during his campaign that he was unalterably opposed to slot machines in Maryland.

Musicale Sunday At First Presbyterian

Another musicale in a continuing series presented by First Presbyterian Church will be held Sunday at 8 p.m. Martha Fink, soprano, and the sanctuary choir of the church will present a program of music for Advent and Christmas.

Mrs. Fink will sing the traditional carols "Torches," "A Virgin Unspotted," and "I Wonder as I Wander." She will also sing "The Virgin's Slumber Song," "Reger," and "Three Jolly Shepherds," Rowley.

The sanctuary choir will sing "O Christmas Tree," "The Little Drummer Boy," "Lo, How a Rose e'er Blooming," "Mary Had a Baby," "Go Tell it on the Mountain," "The Holly and the Ivy," and "Twelve Days of Christmas."

A recorder duo will play the carols "Greensleeves" and "God Rest Ye Merry, Gentlemen." The recorder, a wooden flute, is an instrument used extensively in the 16th to 18th centuries, and currently enjoying a widespread revival.

Bartenders Business Meeting Postponed

Because of the annual Christmas party, Bartenders Local 569 (AFL-CIO) will not hold its regular scheduled business meeting at 11 a. m. tomorrow, Arthur Siebert, secretary, said a general membership meeting will be called later.

Fire Damages Haines Sawmill Near Eilerslie

30 Firemen Fight Blaze

A sawmill, its motorized equipment and a quantity of lumber were damaged extensively yesterday in a wooded area about three-quarters of a mile from Eilerslie.

The fire was battled by volunteers from Eilerslie and Corriganville who were on the scene about three hours after being called about 4:30 p. m.

No estimate of damage to the Haines sawmill and equipment was given by firemen, but they said they were told the loss was not covered by insurance.

Part of the lumber was saved. The blaze started shortly after workmen had gone home for the day.

Five pumpers and about 30 men responded to the fire, the cause of which was not determined. Firemen used water from their pumps, a booster pump to procure water from a nearby stream, and got water from Wills Creek.

A diesel motor was damaged extensively and most of the sawmill and lumber were destroyed.

Fire Chief Charles Shroyer of Eilerslie was in charge of volunteers of that community and William Clauson, second assistant chief of Corriganville, was in charge of his company's fire-fighting.

Shriners Meet In Hagerstown

Shriners from four Western Maryland counties will converge in Hagerstown today for the ceremonial of Ali Ghan Temple, A.A.O.N.M.S.

J. Wallace Close, illustrious potentate of Ali Ghan, said last night that about 100 new nobles will be initiated today to bring the temple's membership to about 1,800 shriners from Allegany, Washington, Garrett and Frederick counties.

The ceremonial will begin at 1:30 p.m. today at South Hagerstown High School. Uniformed units of Ali Ghan will form at 3 p.m. for a parade starting 30 minutes later in downtown Hagerstown.

Workable Plan Approval Is Possible Soon

Is Prerequisite For Federal Help

Federal approval of this city's program for a brighter future through definite planning of growth, accompanied by steps to eliminate blighted areas, and prevent their recurrence may be coming by the end of the year.

The prediction was made yesterday by John R. Joyner, resident planner for Blair and Stein Associates, which is engaged in the preparation of a master plan for this city.

Mr. Joyner said William Rogers, Philadelphia, area field representative for the Urban Renewal Administration, yesterday reported Cumberland's Workable Program application has been completely reviewed.

Asks More Data

The URA official asked for information on several items which have come up since the Cumberland application was filed on November 5, and Mr. Joyner told him the data will be supplied immediately.

Mr. Rogers, he said, assured that unless something unexpected comes up, Cumberland can expect certification of its application in about a month.

The city planner commented that the agency "has moved fast" on the city's application.

The Philadelphia office is in charge of the complete review of applications, including legal, financing and planning aspects.

Goes To Washington

When approved by the regional office, the application will be sent to Washington for final review and expected approval.

The Workable Program, short for a Workable Program for Community Improvement, does not in itself provide any federal aid, but is a prerequisite for such federal programs as urban renewal and public housing.

One of the reasons why it is a "workable program" is that the application must be submitted each year for review and failure to take corrective action results in the denial of recertification.

False Alarm Answered

Three fire companies were called to the County Infirmary at 10:50 p.m. yesterday when an alarm switch inside the building was bumped accidentally. East Side, Central and Truck Company No. 1 at Central answered.

The new McKendree Methodist Church at 203 Paca Street, seen here, is nearing completion and the congregation hopes to hold the first service in the edifice the Sunday before Christmas. The exterior of the church is completed, except for landscaping, and excellent progress is reported on the interior. The church was built at a cost of about $20,000 by Russell G. Robeson, area contractor. Ground for the new church was broken on September 26 and the cornerstone of the partially completed building was laid on October 20. At present the congregation is meeting at 107 South Lee Street.

College Board Tests Will Be Given Today

More than a hundred high school students, mostly seniors, will take College Entrance Examination Board tests today at Allegany High School.

John R. Snyder, Allegany guidance teacher, said 110 will take the scholastic aptitude test between 9 a.m. and noon, and 45 will take achievement tests or the writing sample between 2 and 5 p.m. Some will take both sets of tests.

Mr. Snyder said those taking the tests include students from schools in Allegany and Garrett counties and other places in the tri-state area.

The testing program will be supervised by Mr. Snyder with the assistance of Paul Cuba, Allegany counselor, Robert Hutcheson and Robert Nelson as proctors.

Other tests are scheduled Saturday, January 12, Saturday, March 2, Saturday, May 18, and Wednesday, August 14. Deadline to apply for the January 12 tests is December 15.

Bulletins of information and application forms are available at high school guidance offices.

Mr. Snyder pointed out that many colleges require candidates for admission to take one or more of the tests, and many scholarship sponsors ask applicants to submit test scores. The tests are administered on scheduled dates throughout the year at 2,700 testing centers all over the world.

Tawes Broadens Scope Of Slot Machine Study

BALTIMORE (AP) — All gambling machines, not just slot machines, should be included in the state's move to abolish legalized gaming devices in Maryland, Gov. Tawes said Friday.

The governor's statement was made in a letter to the chairman of the Slot Machine Study Commission, Richard W. Emory of Baltimore. He asked the commission to determine whether commercial bingo also should be abolished.

Tawes' letter was in reply to a query from Emory, who asked the governor earlier this month for a more exact definition of the commission's purpose.

When he appointed the commission last October, Tawes said only that its purpose was to study ways of abolishing legalized gambling machines in four Southern Maryland counties which have them—Anne Arundel, Charles, Calvert and St. Marys.

Tawes told Emory in the two-page letter that he would be "glad to cooperate in every way possible with those counties who

Postmaster Advises Ways To Avoid Yule Mail Rush

Right now is the time to start your Christmas cards and gifts on their way, Postmaster Thomas F. Conlon advised yesterday. The calendar says Christmas is less than a month away, but here in the Post Office it will be Christmas every day from now on, he added.

The postmaster offered several suggestions for avoiding a lot of headaches when the full Christmas rush begins.

For example, don't take chances on mailing poorly wrapped packages. Use sturdy corrugated mailing cartons, heavy paper, adhesive tape and strong cord. Cartons containing several gift packages should be fully stuffed with tissue or old newspaper to cushion the contents.

Articles of unusual size or bulk should be checked with the Post Office before attempting to mail them as the limits on size and weight of packages vary, depending on where they are mailed from. As an extra precaution, it is always a good idea to place an extra label carrying both the return address and the recipient's address inside the carton or package.

Postmaster Conlon also suggests that cards be sent by first class mail, using the attractive new four-cent Christmas stamps. When sent first class the cards are delivered quicker and they will be forwarded or returned if it becomes necessary. Also, they may carry written messages along with the signature.

He emphasized the importance of including the return address on every Christmas card envelope.

Before mailing Christmas cards, free labels can be obtained from the Post Office which read, "all for local delivery" and "all for out of town delivery," so that cards can be sorted into two bundles, with the addresses all facing one way, expediting delivery.

Postmaster Conlon said that because of the fine cooperation of the public in recent years great progress has been made in getting the Christmas mails through on time.

"Mail Early and Often" is the slogan for this year's mail early Christmas campaign. Christmas cards and gifts for most distant points should be mailed first, preferably well before December 10.

Those for nearby points should be mailed by December 15, or at least a week before Christmas.

Canister Taken

77% Of School Buses Reported Defect-Free

Nearly 77 per cent of the Allegany County school buses checked in the second inspection of the school year in mid-November had no defects, according to J. Hubert Radcliffe, county supervisor of transportation.

His report on the inspections which ended November 8 showed that 83 of the 108 school buses were free of defects. The same was true of six of the eight automobiles used in transporting children to schools.

Most of the defects were considered minor in nature and each bus contractor was instructed to make the necessary corrections or repairs within 10 days. Mr. Radcliffe said the remedies have been completed.

One school bus was found with four defects but most of those faulted were defective in only one respect, Mr. Radcliffe pointed out.

Among the flaws found were two defective tie rods, one manifold gasket, one wheel cylinder leaking, two defective tail pipes, three bad seats and four with defective lights.

The final inspection of the school year will be undertaken in March.

Christmas Seal Returns Up

Christmas seal returns totaled $7,717.25 yesterday, an increase of $335.92 over collection for the same period last year, according to a report by the Allegany-Garrett Tuberculosis Association.

Of 22,000 seals mailed to both counties, 4,929 responses have been received.

In Allegany County, 4,420 have responded, giving a total of $6,786.35, an increase of $396.77 over last year's receipts of $6,389.58 for the same period.

Garrett County collections thus far total $930.90, a decrease of $60.85 compared to $991.75 received in the same period last year.

He will confer today in Baltimore with Abe Scop, Chief of the Child Welfare Bureau of the Department of Public Welfare.

Mr. Curran's new duties will include coordination and supervision of the activities of the training schools and also provide custodial care and treatment for the delinquent children committed to the institutions.

In his new duties he will be in charge of Montrose and Barrett schools for girls; the Maryland Training School for Boys and Boys Village, the Maryland Children's Center and the three forestry camps.

Within the next few years a vocational school for older boys is anticipated in the vicinity of Boys Village, said Mr. Curran.

Originally from Indiana, he received his master of arts degree in social work at Indiana University in 1951. Prior to becoming superintendent of the three camps he was their field supervisor.

The camp at Green Ridge was established in 1955, and the two other camps, in 1957 and 1958.

Injured Nurse Listed 'Good'

Miss Esther P. Richardson, 23, of Lonaconing, a member of the nursing staff at Memorial Hospital, who was injured Thursday night in a two-car collision at Pekin on Maryland Route 36, is reported in "good" condition at the local hospital.

She sustained a concussion, and a contusion of the scalp in the near-head-on collision, was admitted to Miners Hospital and transferred yesterday to the hospital here. She was driver of one of the cars.

The driver of the other car, Joseph R. McKenzie, 52, also of Lonaconing, who apparently was unhurt, is scheduled to be given a hearing next Friday at Trial Magistrate's Court in Frostburg.

Trooper R. W. Andrews, who investigated the accident about 10 p. m., said McKenzie was charged with failure to keep to the right, and with another motor vehicle violation.

He said Miss Richardson was driving south on Route 36 and her car was struck by the McKenzie vehicle, which was traveling north in the wrong lane.

Tony Martin Turns To Law, Wants 'Mental Security'

By DICK KLEINER

NEW YORK (NEA)—Tony Martin, a sensible sort, is planning a most unusual step for a man well established in show business; he's going to study law.

"By this time in my life," he says, "I have money security, but what I need and what I want is mental security. I don't want to have to sit in the Friar's Club lobby for the rest of my life."

Before he became a singer, Tony Martin had studied law. He has 1½ years of credits.

"And one of these days," he says, "I'm going to finish. Maybe next summer; I have no engagements for next summer. When I pass my bar exam, I hope to go into partnership with a famous lawyer."

At the moment, Tony and his wife, Cyd Charisse, lead a beautiful life. He works at his singing perhaps five months a year, playing nightclubs in New York, Chicago, Los Angeles, Las Vegas and Miami. Cyd and Tony like the Caribbean area, and spend much of the rest of the year in Puerto Rico and Aruba. They travel and relax—but Tony spends an hour or so each day on his vocalizing and Cyd works on her ballet bar.

Most men in Martin's position might live for today. But he says: "When a man gets past 45, he must think of the years to come. He must plan for his mental security."

His daydream is that he'll pass his bar exam, work for a year or two and then "do some good on the international level."

"After all," he says, "my name means something around the world. With legal training, perhaps I could be useful somehow in some international meetings. I think that would be a tremendously worthwhile thing for me to do."

Show Assists Noodle Priest Of Hong Kong

Hong Kong's "Noodle Priest," Msgr. John Romaniello, received a $1,000 check from the emcee of "Queen for a Day" Jack Bailey, to fulfill the wish of a recent queen.

Mrs. Mimi Weeks of Long Beach, Calif., received the crown on the basis of her winning wish for a noodle making machine.

She told Bailey that she had learned of Msgr. Romaniello's program to feed a million refugees on noodles made from U. S. surplus grain, from her husband, Navy Lt. Theodore Weeks, who was stationed there.

The Maryknoll priest, author of "Escape From Red China," started the feeding program as director of Catholic Relief Services.

The "Queen for a Day" noodle unit will be added to the 23 machines now in operation at 18 locations.

Day In Court Judge Rules Over 10 Kids

Edgar Allan Jones Jr., and William Gwinn, judges on ABC-TV's "Day In Court" have some very definite thoughts on the younger set.

When not teaching or practicing law, or appearing before the TV cameras, Jones, who is a professor of law at UCLA, spends his time with his wife and ten children at their home in Santa Monica, Calif. Family standards of self-reliance, mutual respect and love are bulwarks against juvenile delinquency, according to Edgar Allan Jones whose children's ages range from ten months to 15½ years old.

One method used by the Joneses to teach the youngsters self-reliance and logical thinking is dinner-time conversations.

"We propose a problem and the children try to solve it," Jones explains. "We find that they come up with pretty good solutions through common sense."

Respect for authority also is taught within the Jones family.

"We use a 'sir and m'am' system in our family," Jones says. "The kids sir and m'am us and we sir and m'am them. Of course, they still call us mom and dad but, in response to a request, I expect them to say, 'Yes sir'."

The youngsters are required to knock on a door before coming in, not to break into conversations, and to show respect for their elders.

"The juvenile cases on 'Day In Court' and all the others on the program, are taken from actual court records. A man just can't 'hear' these cases without having definite views on the subject. And as the father of two teen-age boys, the subject becomes even more important to me," says Gwinn.

Sons Of Pioneers Appear In 100 Films

The singing Sons of the Pioneers, which was formed in 1934, has appeared in more than 100 motion pictures.

The six men have usually performed with an original member of the group, Roy Rogers, with whom they are featured on ABC-TV's "Roy Rogers and Dale Evans Show."

Frank Faylen, seen as the father of "Dobie Gillis" made his stage debut when his parents, who were in vaudeville, wheeled him onstage in a baby carriage.

Show Focuses On Soviets' Cuba Acts

The Soviet decision in the Cuban crisis and new rumblings in Berlin and elsewhere in the world signify a subtle change in Soviet foreign policy.

What the foreign policy shift means on the international scene is the subject of an unusually perceptive, hour-long National Educational Television program, "Challenge and Response: A New Look At Soviet Foreign Policy," which will be shown Monday, December 3, at 8:30 p. m. on (E6).

Together with four distinguished experts on the Soviet Union, host Marshall D. Shulman, professor of international politics at the Fletcher School of Law and Diplomacy, Tufts University, will analyze this foreign policy.

Professor Shulman feels that the Soviet goal has increasingly moved away from support of economic and social revolution to the establishment of political power superiority through the evolutionary methods of international diplomacy.

Those who will appear with Professor Shulman on the videotaped program are Herbert Dinerstein, head of the Soviet Section of the Social Science Department of the Rand Corporation; Jeremy Azrael, fellow of the Russian Research Center at Harvard University; Robert Campbell, professor of economics at the University of Indiana; and William E. Griffith, research associate of the Center for International Studies at MIT.

The five men will pay special attention to the military dimension of the present Soviet challenge, current problems in Soviet economic development and the allocation of Soviet resources, the Soviet domestic situation, and the strengths and weaknesses in political relationships within the Communist orbit.
